THE COURTS.

WHALEN UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION. WIS ADROITNESS IN EXPLAINING DOCUMENTS AND PREVIOUS TESTIMONY.

The cross-examination of James A. Whalen, the plaintiff in the suit for $400,000 against General Philip H. Sheridan, was conducted entirely by Mr. Beckwith yesterday. It was very searching, and the de-fendant's counsel thought it resulted in convicting Whalen of sufficient contradictions and evasions to materially weaken his case. Whalen admitted that he had failed as a jeweller at No. 23 Maiden-lane, New-York, but claimed that he had made $70,000 out of two Southern plantations. He dgnied that James H. Sister had ver been in possession of the Killona plantation at the time that he nimself claimed possession. Mr. Beckwith which he himself claimed possession. Mr. Beekwith showed him an agreement with Slater in which Whalen was permitted to occupy the premises while Slater was absent, and asked Whalen it he had the power to self goods without Slater's consent. Whalen acknowledged that he had never attempted such a thing. Although Whalen had testified that he was in constant possession of the premises, yet he acknowledged that when Mr. Taylor, the owner, died, he surrendered the pisntation to her executiors and took out a new lease.

Whalen explained the transfer of the plantation to Mark Hoyt by saying that it was only a pretended sale and a means of preventing him from being swindied. When Mr. Beckwich produced Whalen's own affidavit, in which he testified that the sale to Mark Hoyt was in good faith, the witness asswered that he had signed whatever Hoyt had asked him to. Judge Wallace asked the witness if he knew the contents of any of the papers he signed. He answered that he did—those in the latter part of the suit. There was langther in the jury-box and on the part of the few others who could hear at Whalen's testimony in regard to the alleged sale of molasses and sugar by General Sheridan. Whalen acknowledged that he himself had selected the receiver who sold the projecty. Whalen, however, insisted that General Sheridan had ordered the seizure of the proceeds. Judge Wallace said that he did not see any use in examining further a witness who testified with such facility about the papers presented to him. His testimony will be concluded today.

ROBERT HELLER'S SINGULAR WILL. OBDERING HIS MECHANICAL DEVICES BROKEN UP, THAT NO ONE MAY HAVE THE BENEFIT OF HIS

The will of Henry Palmer, commonly known as Robert Heller, the magician, was filed in the Surrogate's Office yesterday, and in some respects it is very peculiar. After the ordinary formalities he directs that executrix, under the direction of Haldee Heller, shall destroy, break up and beat out of shape all the secret apparatus and mechanical devices connected with my business, so that no one may have the benefit of my brains after my death." He further directs that so much of his estate as shall yield a yearly income of £625 shall be so invested as to yield to Haidee Helier £125 a year; to his wife, Aunie Maria Palmer, £500 a year, £125 of which shall be paid to her as long as she shall remain single, and £375 to be applied by the wife, or at her death by the guardian of the children, to the support and education of the children, Mary A. support and education of the children, Mary A. Palmer, Annie Palmer and Joseph H. Palmer. The testator also directs the bequests to Haidee Heller of "one clock, one liquor stand, all the leweiry which I may die possessad of except my gold watch and one clock; also all carpets, gas-brackets, and any and all articles of furniture about which there is no mechanical device or business secret." The rest of his property is given to his brother, Angelo C. Pulmer, of Hamilton, Australia. His sister, Mrs. Fannie Gibbs, of Seven Oaks, Kent, England, is made sole executrix and trustee. The will is dated April 12, 1878, and is witnessed by Charles N. Vilas and Elisha S. Caldwell, of New-York.

Mrs. Catherine Beilstein has begun an action in the Kings County Supreme Court for a limited divorce from her husband, Martin Beilstein, on the ground of cruelty. Judge Pratt yesterday reserved his decision on a motion for alimony and counsel fee.

The Lewis will case, involving the heirship to about $1,000,000. which has attracted so much attenat Newark yesterday, on a motion by ex-Chancellor Williamson to step the taking of further testimony as to the rights of the contestants. He maintained that sufficient testimony had been taken to show a prima face right on their part, and also misisted that the only issue in the case at the present time is the testamentary capacity of Mr. Lewis.

Joannes theatrical troupe, which travelled through the sountry last Spring, was arrested in Jersey City in March on a charge of having assaulted Edward Coyle, one of the actors. Several of the players followed him to Jersey City, claiming that he had not paid their wages. An attachment was procurred from Justice James N. Davis upon the money on Fleming's person, $1,200. Fleming then brought suit against Judge Davis for $10,000 damages, claiming that he had been improperly imprisoned. Judge Knapp granted a nonsuit yesterdar.
